CLARETS! CLARETS!!

TREACHER & Co., Ld., desire to call special attention to their Clarets, of which they are the largest Importers in India. The Wines are imported direct from Bordeaux, and the Company, by reason of the immense demand for their Clarets, are able to place unusually large Orders with original producers. This consideration, and the position they hold as cash buyers, gives them a certain preference in the Wine Market, which their long experience enables them to turn to the utmost advantage, and they are consequently able to offer to their clients Clarets of a very superior order at unusually low prices:—

	CASH. Rs. a.	Rs. a.	CREDIT. Rs. a.	Rs. a.
ST. JULIEN MEDOC—This popular Wine is much appreciated, and is in greater demand in India than any other brand. It is the pure product of the grape, neither "medicated" nor "doctored"	12 0	6 14	13 12	7 12
BORDEAUX.—A favourite Wine from the district of Bordeaux	12 0	6 14	13 12	7 12
It may be mentioned as an evidence of the popularity of our Clarets that our sale of these two brands amounts to nearly 4,000 doz. per annum, which fact alone would be sufficient proof of their merit.

EXAMPLES:—

The sum of Rs. 1,000 may be secured to a Child (at present aged 2 next birthday) on attaining the age of 12, 14, 18 or 21, by annual payments of Rs. 72-11-5, 56-8-10, 39-3-0 or Rs. 29-15-5, respectively, the Premia received to be forfeited if the child die in the interim; but in the event of increased annual payments of Rs. 77-1-8, 61-6-10, 42-1-3 or Rs. 33 being made, the Premia received (less 25 per cent.) will, in the case of the child's death, be refunded.

If desired, the Premia may be paid yearly, half-yearly, quarterly, or monthly.

No Medical Opinion is required under this Table.

The above system is entirely free from all conditions of forfeiture by non-payment of Premium, the Company absolutely guaranteeing, on the child's attaining the required age, a fixed sum in respect of every Premium paid, bearing the same proportion to the sum assured as the number of Premiums actually paid may bear to the whole number originally contracted for.

DO YOU EVER
BUY WATCHES OR JEWELLERY?
If so, send a postcard and we will forward, gratis and post free, our elaborately illustrated Catalogue containing
ONE THOUSAND BEAUTIFUL ENGRAVINGS
Of Watches and Jewellery of very latest designs. Birmingham supplies the World with Jewellery, and you will be astonished at the difference between Indian and Birmingham prices. Send for the Catalogue at once, so as to have it at hand when you or your friends want to buy Jewellery. Orders for a single article will receive equal attention with large orders.
We guarantee safe delivery of any parcels, small or large, all being insured through to our customers. Orders for India are executed by return mail (except such as have to be made to special instructions) ; the delay is thus minimised, and it is worth waiting to secure latest styles and saving 25 per cent.
We are well known in England, but as fraudulent advertisements are sometimes inserted, we shall be very pleased to send Bankers' references and highest testimonials to residents in India who may desire to entrust the execution of large parcels to us.
We shall also be glad to hear from Traders desirous of doing business in Watches or Jewellery. Our prices are so different to those usually charged, that our goods always sell readily.

KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR
LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL
THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.
Incontestably proved by Thirty Years' Medical Experience to be
The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.
SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine ; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."
DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted, in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."
JOSEPH J. POPE, Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.
"I found during my Indian experience that the weight and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognised ; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."
DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked effects produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."
DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS'S Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co. ; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.
WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.
Sold by all respectable Chemists, Druggists, and Storekeepers throughout the World.

THE ONLY REMEDY for NERVOUS EXHAUSTION
Climatic Anæmia, Incapacity for Work and Mental and Physical Depression, is LUMINOUS PHOSPHORUS.
The Only Forms known to be a Safe and Certain Cure
ARE THE PILLS PREPARED BY THE ORIGINAL MAKERS,
H. & T. KIRBY & Co., LD.,
Which have been CONSTANTLY PRESCRIBED by the MOST EMINENT PHYSICIANS with great success for the last TWENTY YEARS.
PURCHASERS ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST FRAUDULENT IMITATIONS. Pills which cost the dealer only one-fourth the Price of KIRBY'S, ARE CONSTANTLY PALMED OFF AS GENUINE. Buy in ORIGINAL BOTTLES ONLY, and see that each Bottle carries OUR TRADE MARK.

SIMPLE PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 5), containing 1-20th gr. Phosphorus.
Dr. KIRBY says : "Experience fully warrants the administration of Phosphorus in this dose" in severe attacks of Neuralgia and cases of extreme Nervous Exhaustion ; it gives excellent results, taken with food three or four times a day.
PHOSPHORUS AND QUININE PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 3), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is a valuable combination of two powerful restoratives. As a nutrient tonic it gives power to the brain and spinal cord, imparts tone to the digestive organs, increases functional activity and improves the condition of the whole system. "It" is largely employed in India during convalescent stages to intermittent and remittent fevers. It is an excellent remedy for Malaise induced by the climate, and is a good prophylactic against Malaria.
PHOSPHORUS AND IRON PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 7), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
This is given with great advantage in Anæmia, Sciatica, and other Neuralgic affections, also in the treatment of convalescence from fever and other debilitating diseases. It is an excellent chemical food for anæmic children, and a good adjuvant to a course of cod liver oil.
PHOSPHORUS AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula No. 6), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This combination is useful in all the cases named above, but especially in cases of feeble digestion and loss of power, following Amaurorhœa, Leucorrhœa, and Atony of the Uterus. Taken regularly with food for a few weeks it has a powerfully renovating effect on broken-down constitutions.
PHOSPHORUS, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 4), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus.
The use of this combination will be gathered from what has been said of the previous Formulæ, Nos. 3 and 6.
For a similar combination with Iron, see No. 9.

COMPOUND PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 9), containing 1-50th gr. Phosphorus, with Iron, Quinine and Strychnia.
This combination of nerve tonics has a very large application It is efficacious in all disorders which are characterised by impoverished blood and diminished nerve power, especially in that low condition of the general health which is induced by overwork, dissipation, and excesses of various kinds. In this state iron and phosphorus is strongly indicated. In Constitutional Syphilis it has a high remedial power, by improving the condition of the blood and by stimulating its regenerative power. It is exceedingly energising and strength-giving. As a tonic for convalescents recovering from fever and other exhausting diseases it is unequalled.
STRONG PHOSPHORUS, IRON, QUININE AND NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 17), containing 1-25th gr. Phosphorus.
This is double the strength of No. 9 as regards Phosphorus and Quinine, and therefore should be prescribed only in cases where the larger dose of Phosphorus is needed.
PHOSPHORUS, CANTHARIDES & NUX VOMICA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 20), containing 1-33rd gr. Phosphorus.
This pill produces no irritation of the gastro-intestinal mucous membrane, but operates as a gentle stimulant to the genito-urinal organs. It is especially useful in premature failure of power, induced by passive discharges due to debility. It is useful also as a stimulating emmenagogue in obstinate cases of Amenorrhœa, Leucorrhœa, and Atony of the Uterus.
Formula No. 30 contains Iron, and as a tonic is most suitable for feeble, anæmic females.
PHOSPHORUS AND DAMIANA PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY's Formula, No. 31), containing 1-33rd gro Phosphorus.
The Extract in this pill is made from the True Damiana Plant ("Turnera Aphrodisiaca"), and is a valuable aid to Phosphorus when required as a remedy for impotence.

The above may be obtained from our appointed Agents in Bottles, 3/-, 5/- and 10/- each (English money) the 10/-Bottle containing sufficient for a course of four weeks. Two 10/-Bottles may be obtained direct from our laboratory, carriage paid to any post town in India or Australia, by remitting us a Post Office order for 21/-.

TO-DAY.

Back Bay Baths, Water Polo Match.

PRINCE'S DOCK.—The s. s. Tregaillon and Darlington left the dock yesterday.

VICTORIA DOCK.—The s. s. Iran entered, and the s. s. Berenice left the dock yesterday.

POSTAL NOTICE.—Mails for Lamu, Mombassa, and Zanzibar, per extra s. s. Safari, will be closed, at the General Post Office, at 6 p.m., on Saturday, the 9th inst.

THEOSOPHICAL LECTURE.—"The Higher Science, or the Science of the Divine" is the subject for lecture and discussion, on Sunday next, at 6 p.m., in the rooms of the Theosophical Society, Church Gate Street.

THE ANJUMAN-ELMI-E-FARSI.—A conversational meeting will be held this evening, at 5 o'clock, in the Hall of the New High School, Hornby Road, Fort, when the Anjuman's Munshi will be in attendance.

A MILL ACCIDENT.—Sirdar Mudaree, a mill-hand, employed at the Empress Mills, accidentally got his hand, last Thursday, in a machine in motion, and seriously injured it. He was removed to the J. J. Hospital, where he has been detained.

ARYAN SOCIAL UNION.—At the regular weekly gathering of this Union, to be held to-night, at the People's Free Reading Room and Library, Bazaar Gate Street, Fort, Mr. Anna Martand Joshi will lecture on "The Dramas of the Present Age and their Effects on the Youngsters."

THE LATE MAJOR J. R. RAINSFORD.—The melancholy news of the 1st Bn Worcestershire Regiment, reached Poona yesterday. The deceased officer, who was very popular in the Regiment, was on his way home, having obtained leave, on medical certificate. He died on the 5th instant.—Deccan Herald.

STUDENT'S SOCIAL PURITY LEAGUE.—In connection with the second quarterly meeting of the League, Mr. Leandrino De Souza will deliver an address, at 6-30 p.m., this evening, in the hall of the Shivaji High School on "Thomas Carlyle," to be followed by a discussion. Dr. B. K. Bhatavadekar, the president of the League, will occupy the chair.

THE HOSPITAL FOR ANIMALS.—On the 1st of June last, there were 103 bullocks, 17 horses, and 5 dogs, at the Bai Sakarbai Dinshaw Petit Hospital for Animals at Parel. During the month of June 109 bullocks, 30 horses, and 21 dogs were admitted, and during the same month 32 bullocks, 18 horses, and 17 dogs were discharged from the hospital. 3 cases among bullocks, 4 among horses, and 6 among dogs proved fatal during the past month.

A RUNAWAY YOUTH.—Hussowchand, a resident of Rajkot, who came to Bombay, on the 4th instant, reported to the police, last Thursday evening, that his son, Carelchand, aged 15 years, had a quarrel with him, and came to Bombay, and stayed for two days with a man, named Cooverjee Baja, at Nishanpada Road, but having learnt that his father had also come to Bombay he left that house on the 6th. The boy, when he left his father's place, had on his person gold and silver ornaments, valued at Rs. 75. The police are making inquiries about him.

THE Y. M. C. A. CONCERT.—The concert in the above rooms, on Thursday night, was, despite the inclemency of the weather, a success, and the funds of the Association, in aid of which the entertainment took place, will no doubt be benefitted. The programme, though short, comprised songs and solos by performers, who are well-known at these concerts. The programme, was opened by Miss Hartley, with a pianoforte solo, "Polish Dances," which was well received. Mr. A. F. Harrington sang the "Bugler," receiving a hearty applause at its termination. Later on he again rendered "Out on the Deep," and the ease and grace with which he took the deep notes of the song merited the appreciation of the audience. Miss Waller sweetly rendered her two pieces "Masks and Faces" and "In the Chimney Corner," both of them drawing forth hearty plaudits. Mr. F. W. J. Vining sang "You and I," and rendered the pianoforte solo "Invitation a la Valse," both in brilliant style, Mrs. Farlow sang sweetly "The Whip-Poor-Will's Echo Song" and "Island of Dreams," and was vigorously applauded, and had to respond to an encore for her first song. Mrs. Squire sang with pleasing effect "May Margaret" and was encored, and responded, with "I'm Sitting on the stile, Mary." The entertainment closed by Mr. F. J. Clark rendering "Storm Fiend," in his usual easy and pleasant style.

IMPORTANT DECISION IN A MUNICIPAL CASE.—At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, Mr. Webb gave decision, in the case in which Mr. Douglas Bennett, of the Bombay Municipality, summoned Messrs. Rahimbhoy Alladinbhoy and Co., secretaries, treasurers, and agents of the Akbar Manufacturing and Press Company, calling upon them to pay separate license fees for five articles or commodities that are pressed in their Press. Mr. Abdoolla Meherally Dhuramsey, of the firm of Messrs Thakordass, Dhurumsey Cama, appeared for the defendants. When the case was heard by Mr. Webb about a fortnight ago, Mr. Bennett contended that, under Section 394 of the Municipal Act and Schedule M, the defendants were liable to pay for each licence fees for five articles or commodities (cotton, wool, hay, &c.,) pressed in their Press. Mr. Dhuramsey, on the other hand, argued that the section contemplated only the taking out of a license for the premises in which no business could be carried out without obtaining a license. If one license was taken for the business done in the premises there was no necessity of obtaining any other license for the different articles or commodities pressed in it. The Magistrate, in giving decision remarked that one license was quite sufficient under the circumstances of the present case. The English authorities laid down that a liberal construction should be put on the language of the Act wherever it happened to be doubtful or ambiguous, and that it should be construed in favour of the tax-payer.

HIGH COURT.—ORIGINAL SIDE.

(Before the Hon. Mr. Justice PARSONS.)

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S INSTITUTION.

THE REV. J. C. HERDMAN AND OTHERS v. HURRILAL KASSIDAS CHOKSI.

THE plaintiffs in this case, the owners of the property known as the General Assembly's Institution, are the Rev. J. C. Herdman, of Melrose-Minister of Melrose, Scotland; Sir John N. Cuthbert, son, of Glasgow, Scotland; M. J. T. Madagan, of Edinburgh; the Rev. T. H. Greig, Senior Chaplain of the Church of Scotland, Bombay; the Rev. A. B. Watson, Chaplain of the Church of Scotland; and Mr. F. A. Spencer. They prayed that the defendant may be restrained from erecting his new building in such a way as to interfere with or obstruct the access of light and air hitherto enjoyed by the plaintiffs through the windows on the ground and first floor in the east wall of their building, and may be decreed to pull so much of his house as may interfere with or obstruct such access; that, in the alternative, the defendant may be decreed to pay to the plaintiffs the sum of Rs. 30,000 as damages; and that an injunction be granted in the meantime. The Hon. Mr. Lang and Mr. Jardine, instructed by Messrs. Little, Smith, Frere, and N cholson, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Starling and Mr. Inverarity, instructed by Mr. J. C. Cama, appeared for the defendant.

The plaintiff's case was that their property consists of Rooms containing large rooms, and has for very many years past been used as a school; and that the rooms are used as class-rooms. In the east wall, there are on the ground-floor two windows, and on the first story two windows, through which the plaintiffs and their predecessors in title had for more than twenty years enjoyed, as of right and as an easement, the free and uninterrupted access of light and air to and for their building save in so far as the same is to a certain extent was interrupted to the windows on the ground floor by the house of the defendant, who is the owner of a piece of ground situated to the east of the plaintiffs' property and separated only by the Maharaso Wadi, 12 feet 6 inches in width. There formerly stood upon the piece of ground a house consisting of two storeys and a loft only. The defendant had now obstructed the access of light and air from the ground and first floor windows of the plaintiff's building. He had lately pulled down his house and was building a new house, consisting of a ground floor and four upper storeys. The new house would be considerably higher than the old one, and when completed, would greatly interfere with the access of light and air hitherto enjoyed by the plaintiff and would prevent the plaintiffs' building being used as beneficially as it had been hitherto as a school, and would greatly diminish its value. The defendant was rapidly proceeding with his new building and would shortly complete it unless restrained by injunction.

The defendant did not admit the correctness of the plan attached to the plaint. He stated that he gave up building his house according to the original plan, and from time to time altered it so as to avoid giving the plaintiffs' any cause of complaint at the same time that he made the best use of his own land. His house, when finished, would not greatly interfere with the access of light and air enjoyed by the plaintiffs, and would not prevent their building being used as beneficially as hitherto as a school, nor would it interfere with the beneficial use of the building in any way whatever. He submitted that the suit should be dismissed with costs, but in any event he submitted that the Court ought not to grant an injunction against him.

Evidence was gone into during the day. It appeared that the defendant had completed his building since the argument of the rule nisi granted in the case,

His Lordship, in disposing of the suit, remarked that the diminution of light caused by the defendant's building to the lower room, of the plaintiffs, no doubt, justified a finding in favour of the plaintiffs, but his Lordship did not think that the upper room was in any way damaged. The circumstances of the case, in his Lordship's opinion, did not justify an injunction. As for damages, he assessed them at Rs. 1,350, that is 900 for the lower window, and Rs. 450 for the upper window. Decree was passed for the plaintiffs for Rs. 1,350, with the cost of the suit as the defendant had not paid anything or tendered anything. Each party to bear it own costs of the rule. The amount to be paid within a week after the costs are taxed and demanded; otherwise injunction to issue.

On Thursday, the 16th ult., Mr. Carttar, Coroner, received information of the finding in the Penge Tunnel, London, Chatham, and Dover Railway, of the body of Mr. R. H. Boddam, aged forty-four, tea planter, son of Lieutenant-General Hungerford Boddam, of 155, Crosted-road, West Dulwich. Deceased, who was discovered about 400 yards from the entrance to the tunnel, had left home to meet a friend at the Savoy Hotel, Strand, who was to start with him for India next day. How he came to be on the line is a mystery. The deceased had a tea garden at Hasaribagh, and was before the public some time ago in connection with a property right dispute with the Jains, known as the Parasnath case.

WEDDING IN BANGALORE.

THE wedding of Miss Mary Inkson, third daughter of Surgeon-Colonel Inkson, P. M. O. of the Banglore and Belgaum Districts, with Lieutenant E. Philips Johnson, R.E., son of Lieutenant-General Sir C. Johnson, at Trinty Church on Monday was one of the prettiest and largest that Bangalore has ever seen. The church had been beautifully decorated by Mrs. H. A. Williams, Mrs. Glanville, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Micgaith with a profusion of white flowers and ferns, wreathed round the communion rails, choir stalls and pulpit, the altar being decorated with choice white roses and maiden-hair. The bride was given away by her father and looked very pretty in a white cord silk gown trimmed with lace and orange blossom and wearing the typical wreath of orange blossom surmounted by a long white veil. She also wore two gold bracelets, gifts of the bridegroom, and a diamond crescent, gift of the bridegroom's father, Sir C. Johnson, and carried a lovely bouquet of white roses, orange blossoms,

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 8.

A FURTHER decline of 1-16d. per oz. took place in the price of Bar Silver in London yesterday, at 39¾d.; but Rupee Securities were unchanged at £67⅞ for Fours, and £67⅜ for 4½ per Cents; while in New York, the price of the metal remained at 87 cents, demand Exchange on London being ¼ cent. higher, at 4·88½ dollars. Consols were unaltered in London, at 96⅜; and Indian Sterling Loan at 107½. The Exchange Banks' buying rate on India, at 30 days' sight, was still 1s. 3 1-16d. The Indian Council placed a small amount of extra Bills on Calcutta (Rs. 10,000) at 1s. 3 5-16d., which is 1-6d. above Wednesday's regular allotment rate. Braziers' Copper recovered 10s. of its late decline, being quoted at £54 per ton. Paris quotations come unaltered.

The Bank of England Reserve continues to decrease, the Returns for the week ending on Wednesday, again showing a diminution of 4 per cent., making the Reserve stand at 40 per cent. of the Liabilities. The Bank rate remained at 2 per cent.; and the market rates of discount at ⅝ per cent. on short London Bills, and 1⅛ per cent. on six months' sight Indian Bank Paper.

The Liverpool Cotton Market closed irregular last evening; Surats neglected; and Arrivals dull; the total Sales having been 8,000 bales; including 400 Surats. The price of spot Mid.-Americans remained at 3 15-16d.; and Surats were unchanged in value; but American Arrivals were 1-16d. lower in the nearest and the most distant, and 3-32d. in intermediate positions, the extreme quotations being 32d. for July and July-August deliveries, and 3 29-32d. for November-December. The day's Imports were 1,000 bales. The Manchester Market was quiet.

In New York, 7 15-16 cents was still the price of ready Mid.-Uplands yesterday; but September Futures were 6 points lower, at 7·12 cents. The Receipts at the U. S Ports were again 2,000 bales; and the total figures for the present season now compare as follows with those of the two previous years.—

	1892.	1891.	1890.
Thursday's Receipts	2,000	1,000	400
Five days' do	8,000	7,400	1,800
Since 1st Sept., 1891	2,995,000	6,856,300	5,745,500

Exporters remain quite out of the Cotton Market here; and the only business reported this day is the purchase of 550 bales by the Mills, consisting of 200 Julgaum, at Rs. 172; 100 each of Dhulia, at Rs. 168; Ojein, at Rs. 167½, and Dhollera, at Rs. 171; and 50 Broach, at Rs. 186 per candy, the tone of the market having been quiet, and prices unchanged.

WHEAT has remained quiet, with only a small export business passing. Prices of Pessy and Delhi are half-an-anna per cwt. lower, the following being this evening's quotations:—

White Pessy 91 per cent.	Rs.	5	0	6 per cwt.
Do. 85 "	"	4	15	0 "
No. 1 Club Delhi	"	4	14	0 "
Red Delhi	"	4	10	0 "
Hard Yellow	"	4	14	0 "
Red Ahmedabad	"	4	12	0 "
Hard Red	"	4	8	6 "

SEEDS continue to be taken to a moderate extent by shippers, in a steady market, and on the basis of previous rates.

The Receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

Cotton	1,416 bales.
Wheat	11,156 cwts.
Linseed	2,029 "
Rapeseed	5,919 "
Poppyseed	1,107 "
Groundnuts	794 "
Castorseed	3,260 "
Rice	7,226 "

FREIGHTS are dull, with no demand from shippers; but there is not much tonnage offering, as disengaged steamers prefer laying up, and waiting for better times to accepting current rates.

EXCHANGE opened at 1s. 3½d. for Bank Telegraphic, and 1s. 3 9-32d. for Demand, at which a fair amount was taken; and in Credits, we have heard of few Bills being placed at 1s. 3 13-32d. for 3 months' sight Sterling, and 1·62½ for Francs, for July delivery; and the market closed quiet but steady as follows:—

Bank Bills on Demand	1s. 3 9-32d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 3 9-32d.	"
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 3 5-16d.	"
Credits do.	1s. 3 13-32d.	"
Francs do.	1·62¼	"

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been steady to-day, at an advance of 1-16d. for Money and Account on last evening's final rates, our closing quotations being 106¼ for Fours, for cash; and 106 1-16 for the next settlement; with 4¼ per Cents quoted at 105½; but there has not been much business doing.

SHARES.—There has been nothing doing in Cotton Mill in Press shares to-day, and our quotations are unchanged; but we note a further advance of Rs. 5 in Bombay Flour Mill shares, to Rs. 915; and a decline of Rs. 10 in Treacher and Co., at Rs. 870. per share.

The Bombay Gazette

SATURDAY, JULY 9, 1892.

THE General Elections on Thursday, July 7, had returned two hundred and eighty-two members to the new Parliament, of whom one hundred and forty are Conservatives, nineteen Unionists, and one hundred and twenty-three Liberals. Of these latter ten may be otherwise described as Anti-Parnellite, and one Parnellite. The relative proportion of gains is changed somewhat by the fact that on Thursday the Ministerialists captured no seats, while the Liberals secured five—all in the metropolitan area. The Liberal increments are now thirty-four; the Conservative eleven and the Liberal Unionists four. The most noticeable feature of the day's returns was the rapidity with the five successes of Wednesday in the Metropolitan area—Central Finsbury, West Islington, North Lambeth, Newington, and Walworth—were followed on Thursday by the capture of other five—Bow and Bromley, Limehouse, North Camberwell, St. George's in the East, and North Kensington. The Liberals have now secured seventeen of the Metropolitan seats of which ten are newly conquests. The number which they expected or hoped to wrest from the Unionists was fifteen, and they are still five short of that tale. The Conservatives have twenty-seven of the Metropolitan seats and several have still to be fought for. The London voters cannot on this occasion be accused of apathy; the voting was very heavy. In the Ealing division of Middlesex Lord George Hamilton upon whom a Liberal candidate was apparently sprung was returned by a majority of 3,455 votes. The Right Honourable Mr. C. P. Ritchie, the President of the Board of Trade, has been disp

HYDERABAD NEWS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

HYDERABAD, JULY 8.

The Resident and Mrs. Plowden have gone to the Residency, at Bolarum.

A heavy shower of rain fell yesterday afternoon. Before this the heat was intense.

The subscription dance at the United Service Club last week was a great success.

Colonel Williams and Officers of the Suffolk Regiment gave another pleasant "at home," on Monday last. Dancing was kept up with much spirit in the mess house. There was a very good Gymkhana at Secunderabad, on Wednesday, the principal events being a tandem race and a jumping competition.

Mr. and Mrs. Plowden and a great number of people were present.

Colonel Apthorpe and Officers of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers are giving a dance on the 13th instant.

THE POONA CROSS-COUNTRY RACE PROGRAMME.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, JULY 8.

A meeting of the Stewards of the Cross-Country Races was held to-day. It was decided to hold meetings on the 23rd September and 3rd October. There will be seven races each day as follows :—First day—three steeple-chases, two point-to-point races, one hurdle race, and one steeple chase for polo ponies. Second day—three handicap steeple-chases, one hurdle, and three point-to-point races.

THE WAR GAME.

The war game was played for a second time to-day in the presence of a large number of spectators. The general idea of the game was that the Northern Force was opposing the advance of the Southern Force, and has fallen back behind the line of the Ouse river to await reinforcements. The result was that the Southern Force infantry crossed the Magford Bridge with a loss of four companies, while the Northern Force after losing half a company were retiring in the direction of Handley Cross. Major Kitchener, Colonels Rawlins and Westmacott made appropriate remarks. General Blundell said he agreed with Major Kitchener and Colonel Rawlins. He thought that the attack on the Magford Bridge was not good, and he believed that the Southern Force could never have crossed the bridge even with the poor defence that was made.

VANITY FAIR.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JUNE 17.

Apart from the question of comfort, which few of us are Stoics enough to despise, there is a sentimental sense of unfitness in the idea of north-easterly winds and snow-clouds in June. In most people's minds June is associated with long, sunny, days—with hot, soft, breezes, scented with old-fashioned pinks and roses—with the hum of bees under the shadow of the lime-trees—with the ripple of a stream or the plash of a fountain in the distance. Ideals die hard—but they die inevitably—and the ideal June is now almost matter of history—it will soon become the stock story of the oldest inhabitant ; and people will shake their heads incredulously when they are told of days that were hot enough to wear muslin dresses, and to loll about in the long grass, too happily hot to care about spoiled complexions and hair touzzled and full of hay-seed.

But milliners and modistes are determined to keep up as long as possible the fiction of a sultry June. With airy summer fabrics what charming effects can be created—what exquisite combinations of delicate colouring—what miracles of beauty and softness possible in richer heavier material can be worked out in crepe or tulle, lace or chiffon. The dresses for Ascot were not in the least suggestive of the frigid temperature that has prevailed since the beginning of June. Possibly there was hope in the hearts of race-goers that the wind would be tempered to the Society lamb at Ascot. But it blew keen and cold as November, and the Society lamb would have been in a bad way if it had trusted itself to the elements without its winter fleece, or a substitute in the shape of a pretty wrap or mantle. Capes of various devices were worn—some triple flounced, but with a difference in the neck from the original cocher shape, others rather long, and with shoulder frills showing a contrasting colour in the lining. Every style of costume seems to be now affected according to the taste or figure of the wearer. Some dresses are made in the new princess shape—a development of the Swiss or corset bodice into an entire skirt. A Pompadour silk shirt with loose sleeves is sometimes worn with a dark skirt ; but usually there is a better effect produced by having a shirt or chemisette of a shade of silk to match the dress, and to slight figures shoulder straps are an improvement as they correct the impression of slipping off altogether given by the very graceful sweeping lines of the combination dress and bodice. Some pretty dresses are made of delaine with a silk frilled vest to match the flowery spots. The skirt has a pleated ribbon ruching or trimming of coquilles of the same colour as the vest. A flounce lined with the colour, put on to simulate a fichu ending in a V in front and back, has a good effect on slight figures—or when the bodice is made with a yoke of the silk with lace covering, it is edged with a narrow ribbon ruche or coquille trimming ; but this is also a decoration only suited to the slim-bodied. Flowered materials ought indeed be eschewed by people who feel it desirable to avoid drawing attention to their proportions—massiveness of the figure being so much more remarkable when it is accentuated by numerous bunches of poppies, groups of azaleas, or springs of ivy. Tussore silks are coming into use again for dust cloaks, and with a roll collar showing a heliotrope lining they are specially becoming. A material, the same colour as Tussore silk, but with a crinkly texture also looks pretty in costumes with a quiet decided colour introduced as lining to the frills and flounces, or showing in the vest, collar, and sash. One of the most remarkably ugly revivals of an old fashion is the broad tan leather belt. In spite of the artistic culture which we are supposed to have been imbibing for years this hideous innovation—more suited to mediæval tastes—is the most popular arrangement for hiding the junction of the skirt with the silk or cotton shirt bodice.

***

The chameleon may have many interesting characteristics, but its changes of colour are, in the eyes of naturalists, its most remarkable point. It has come to be the same with Madame Adelina Patti in the sight of the natural historians of society. Though her voice is as full and rich and her charms as great as ever, everything is overlooked but the facility with which she changes the tint of her hair. On Saturday, at the Albert Hall, it was apparent that her passion for Titianesque ruddiness had passed away—possibly with the gowns it suited—and now she is black-haired Patti, as fascinating as ever, if looking a little stouter in a bluey, pinky dress with a graceful train and handsome lace sleeves. But though her colours come and go, her wonderful rich voice is as sweet, as full, and as powerful as ever ; and she kept her audience enthralled until the echo of her last note had long died away in space.

***

Though the chestnut tint is still popular amongst those whose complexion is good enough to stand a departure from the original designs of Providence, a change is gradually creeping into hair-dressing. The rough, dry style is giving place to the smooth silken arrangement foreshadowing the bandoline and bear's grease revival that is certain to come with the revolution of the cycle of fashion. The hair is now worn in smooth coils elaborately built out at the back—rather Egyptian than Greek in outline. A symmetrical fringe or fuzziness edges the forehead and covers the top of the head, a so-called in visible net keeping it in order. But this device though useful in windy weather is an artistic mistake as it robs the head of the beautiful aureole of radiant brown and gold and silver threads with which we are naturally crowned.

To keep the hair soft and glossy in hot weather when it often becomes unpleasantly limp and straight and disinclined to curl, a French preparation "Eau Athemenne pour degraisser les cheveux" is very highly recommended. It has the advantage of being easily applied ; it has no obnoxious perfume, and it is perfectly harmless.

For the complexion in hot weather a specialist gives a very simple prescription. Put a tablespoonful of oatmeal in a muslin bag, pour over it a quart of boiling water, and when it is pleasantly tepid use it for washing night and morning ; afterwards rubbing the face with a soft towel carefully and thoroughly but gentle—not as some people do with the vigour necessary to frotter a waxed floor. Those who have not already seen the New Review should get it to read the Hon. Mrs. Lyttleton's article on "Englishwomen in India," which is amusing so far as it goes.

"Flirts," according to the Hon. Mrs. Lyttleton, "exist in India, no doubt" in larger proportions than in England, but there is less demand for female flirts here, owing to the surplus of women. In India, women are in the minority, and therefore at a premium socially. It is a law of nature that whichever sex is in a minority in any society obtains an amount of attention, flattery, and homage from the other sex which results, among the lighter-headed, in a condition of things commonly known as being "spoilt." As an exemplification of this law, we have only to look at London Society, where the men are in a minority. Who that has travelled about the world, and seen men under opposite conditions but will agree with me that the average English gentleman, of no special moral or intellectual power to raise him above the crowd, is a more chivalrous-minded man after ten years in India, than if he had remained in London at a false social premium. As London society is an abnormal test of a man's vanity, so is Anglo-Indian society of a woman's. At least in India things are balanced, so that it is rare to see women 'running after' man ; the race is all the other way."

Then Mrs. Lyttleton describes the evolution of the Anglo-Indian flirt.

"The motives that underlie her conduct are vanity and reaction from a monotonous and lonely existence resulting in a craving for some excitement. Without wishing altogether to justify her motives or their consequences, I still assert that they are more excusable in India than elsewhere. No sooner does she set foot on a P. and O. steamer than she finds herself valued socially. Her rosy cheeks, redolent of English air, have a special charm to the home-sick Anglo-Indians whose fine-drawn features and tanned complexions may be recognised as they come on board at the docks or Brindisi. The girl is voted "so fresh and English —nothing Indian about her," and is flirted with as much as time and space will allow. When she lands in India, whether to remain in a large centre such as Bombay or Calcutta, or to go up to the ordinary station of the village-like proportions already mentioned she finds the same thing, that, qua woman, in this society where males preponderate, she has an amount of social success and attention, that no girl in England, without exceptional advantages of beauty, wit, or wealth, ever receives when she first comes out."

And so on Mrs. Lyttleton goes until her flirt, or business-like siren selects a husband from the number of her suitors.

The third number of the novel Review (incorporating Tinsley's Magazine) is very interesting and useful in its own special line. For people away from London, and without opportunities of hearing of the new and striking novels, the catalogue of new books and authors will be a great advantage. It is often so difficult to make up a list for the circulating library. People will enjoy reading about the makers of boots, and will relish the little samples of each writer's style which is equally given. For the June number Madame Fillonneau has written a study of Paul Bourget, whose essays on Renan, Flaubert, and others, as much as his Italian sketches and Sensations d'Oxford, give his name a special interest to readers of current French literature. Bourget's stories are clever analyses of character—bad character very often, and like most of his French brothers his work is realistic and strong, often very unpleasant. Among his best known books are "Cruelle Enigme," "Crime d'Amour," "Mouvenges," "Un cœur de femme," and "Physiologie d'Amour," which is made up of social papers, which appeared from time to time. Current American fiction is criticized by Mr. Willis Sharp in a fascinating article which contains short sketches—literary etchings, so-called, illustrating his meaning.

RURAL REFLECTIONS.

Though the incident has lost a little of its tragic intensity I can't help alluding to the violent and unprovoked assault upon our beloved W. E. G. The romantic pathos of the surrounding circumstances would melt a heart of stone ! That mighty political Antæus renewing his strength and starting with the wild throb of battle in his veins for the scene of assured triumphs, knocked over, [illegible]led out, cut off in the prime of his (oratorical) [illegible]uth as it were by the remorseless fate in the [illegible]e of a virago, an Atropos—who without [illegible]e or compunction "with the abhorred [illegible]read" extinguishes the people's William ! Who would not weep for W. E. G. ?

It has been roughly estimated that when the first artfully and ambiguously worded intelligence was received, a million or so of letters, and over 5,000 leading articles were written, upon the assumption that Mr. Gladstone had (a) been blown up with a dynamite bomb ; (b) squirted at with vitriol ; (c) bruised and crushed with blocks of granite ; or (d) brought to death's door by a judiciously directed sodawater bottle. Not a soul suspected the true character of the terrible missile. Any enterprising editor who had offered £1,000 prize to the person who guessed what it was that had "sunk so low that sacred head"—entrance to the competition half-a-crown, would have realised handsomely.

***

My last private wire from Hawarden has relieved me of all anxiety on the subject. "Last crumb of ginger-nut successfully extracted. Can now wink either eye. Allowed up and head out of bag : off to Midlothian ; whoop la !"

***

It used to puzzle me a good deal why a special prayer was put up for Judges in this country. No one ever seemed to think of praying for Collectors, or Abkari Officers, or Political Agents. All these classes were, I imagined in my joyous ignorance, past praying for.

***

The Judge retained faint traces of grace. Something might be done for him ; if the treatment were commenced early and vigorously sustained. So I fondly thought. It did not occur to me that it was on account of special naughtiness, that the unhappy Judge shared this unenviable distinction with Members of Council, Governors, and Viceroys.

***

But recent events seem to make that conjecture highly probable for no one but a Special Commissioner would have the heart to kick at poor Wheeler. I feel a natural sympathy with Nicholls. Dat has already extorted from me a glowing eulogium ; and there is another Judge yet, up north, upon whom I have my eye in the hope of being shortly called upon to compose a panegyric on his methods. The native press, alas ! has its eye on him too with a different object.

***

Everyone who took the faintest interest in Indian scandals was asking a short time ago "Did Wheeler write the judgment ?" The Commissioners replied, "Why, certainly not : because he couldn't : hadn't got the ability to do it." Was ever a lamer reason ? Why this is very Midsummer madness ? Do they imagine that a judgment is as hard to write as, let us say, a criticism on the Mhowra Bill ? Anyone can write a judgment. The Commissioners themselves did it without knowing it under the name, dear to revenue hearts, of a report : Dr. Bl-n-ey has done it. If I were really hard put to it I could do it myself.

***

This only shows how very unwise it is to give reasons. There is hardly a judgment in India, and never a report of a Special Commission that would not be vastly improved if all the reasons were omitted.

***

Those who introduce Bills into the Legislative Council might well take this significant truth to heart : and draw instructive analogies.

The Government can't agree with the Commissioners. They won't go so far as to say that Wheeler wrote the judgment, but neither are they prepared to say that he didn't. This is a fine non-committal attitude which leaves a loophole of escape for Mr. Justice Straight, and ingeniously leads up to the damnation of Wheeler ; which of course was a foregone conclusion under the circumstances.

The point in this case which has chiefly excited my ill-regulated curiosity is how came H. B. Straight to be doing private detective duty ? Was this an original enterprise of his own, or was he commissioned by superior powers ? Upon what sound principle of economics could he justify the devotion of his time and intellect—both paid for by Government for the due manufacture of Law Reports—to a domiciliary visitation and catechetical examination of Wheeler, chez Wheeler ? I may perhaps be pardoned a not unnatural terror, even should it prove to be ill-founded, at the portentous precedent of the Hon'ble High Court Judges invading mofussil courts and mofussil homes with unknown inquisitorial powers.

For Straight, J., as Judge and as a man I always entertained the highest respect. Ne sutor ultra, my dear Straight, you know. The genuine and original High Court Judge (on Moore and Burgess' principles) should never give performances out of the High Court. Starring in the provinces damages his reputation.

***

And after all what a fuss about one missing judgment. Think of the thousands which judges are turning out all over the country, daily, weekly, and yearly. Think how cheerfully we could spare some of them—say 99 p.c. Think lastly, and reverently of the hon. judges of the various High Courts filling volumes and volumes with printed judgments as the years roll by.

***

When my thoughts are allowed to dwell on these learned and devoted Beings, there rises in my memory (I scarcely know why) a passage in Milton's description of the City of London. "The shop of war hath not these more anvils and hammers working, to fashion out the plates and instruments of armed justice, than there be pens and heads there sitting by their studious lamps, musing, searching, and revolving new notions and ideas wherewith to present us with their homage and fealty" the next issue of the Indian Law Reports.

***

Out of this superfluity I should have thought some Christian judge and brother could have presented Mr. Wheeler with a judgment or two, in the last extremity.

***

The Mhowra controversy waxes fiercer and fiercer. As the indignant champions of the ryot warm to their work : their productions display flashes of recurrent, ever brighter, humour. Wacha and Dantra in eruption are in the spheres of wit, and politics, and morals as noble and instructive a spectacle as Etna or Krakatoa in the base material world. The Colossal struggle reminds a gaping public of the old world-storming of Olympus by the earthborn Titans.

***

"Magnum terrorem intulerat H. E. jovi fidus juventus horridi" (nothing personal dear Mr. Dantra, only a quotation you know from one of your favourite authors, generally illustrating the situation) litteris, to the Bombay Gazette ; tratresque (videlicet Dantra and Wacha, arcades ambo) tendentes opaco, &c.

But of what avail, the poet went on, the mighty Mimas ; the giant bulk of Porphyrion, or Enceladus (plainly foreshadowing the uprising and the onslaught of our modern P. B. D.) Jaculator audax against the impenetrable Ægis or hide of Sir C. P. ? Ah, what indeed ! the storm and surge of impassioned morality and noble disinterestedness, recoil shattered and ineffectual from that storm bulwark of our Olympus. Both Wacha the Corporation's most eloquent and beloved orator, and Dantra, the incomparable man of toddy statistics, have with that moderation and self-restraint, which is one of the most engaging and encouraging attributes of straggling constitutionalism in India, called Sir. C. P. a liar and the father of lies (of course not quite so bluntly, but not less plainly and unmistakably for all that) : they have flung down the gage of battle, these ruddy Davids, and mean to smite Goliath hip and thigh when he will be so good as to condescend to step out into the plain, and do battle with them.

***

But he, the arch-enemy, with a perfectly blood-curdling indifference to the yells and execrations and challenges of the Lilliputians, sits serene in the council of the gods sipping nectar and carrying statements of objects and reasons ; select reports and every debateable point in the most exasperating way with the unanimous vote of the Council. Not a dissentient voice : not even a new official member to take up Mr. Dantra's parable and drive those burning truths home to the callous hearts of H. E. and Sir C. P. in the very citadel of the gods. The earthborn Titans may clamour at the gates in vain. Sir C. P., it is plain, neither means to yield to the unanswerable logic and the persuasive methods of his critics, nor (and this is the really maddening part of that great man's conduct) to take the faintest notice of them. Yet it makes one's heart bleed ! I shed tears of genuine sympathy when I came to this noble, this patriotic outburst in Mr. Dantra's last (up to date) published letter. "I most humbly beg to impress upon the mind of the Honourable Sir Charles that as long as there is a drop of blue blood in my veins and a single farthing in my pocket to spare, I will not desist from my humble efforts of unveiling the vilest, blackest garb of a Satan, under which the Abkari Department has been fearlessly working on and on, though apparently robed in the white clothes of an angel." A passage like that would draw tears from Lindley Murray, or any one. That "to spare" is so unconsciously beautiful. Under all this passion of self-abandonment there is a glimmer of the old national shrewdness. As long as Dantra can carry on the agitation at the expense of his days billiards (let us say) or that extra glass of sherbet,—why ! there he will be in the breach. But farther than that our D. is not yet prepared to go, which is perhaps lucky for the Abkari Department.

***

How long, ah ! how long, will that gutta cœrulea circulate, acting like a stimulant and expelling anti-Abkari humours from the Dantraic system ? I don't feel quite certain yet which suit of vestments, the angelic or diabolic, presents itself to Mr. D.'s fevered eye, as the ordinary monsoon cloak and waterproof of this doomed Abkari Department. But in the gloomy vagueness of his phrases lies half his terror.

***

Sir C. P. as the Exoise Angel would make a fine study. The outlines to be supplied by Mr. D. and Mr. W. with suggestions for indicating without unnecessary grossness the cloven hoof and "the blackest garb of a Satan" underneath the feathers. Almost everyone would subscribe for such a work of art.

***

I expect everyone who knew him has learnt with delight that Mr. Sheppard is applying some of his leisure hours at home to enriching contemporary fiction. I was delighted with his Hairy Man : I gleaned indications of still better things to follow. If he will only draw freely upon the rich stores of that photographic memory ; and no doubt he will ; what splendid feasts await the magazine reader ! The prospect consoles me in great measure for the decadence of modern literature. There is hardly anything which at times I have more regretted than the inadequacy of any penman of to-day to produce a XIXth century continuation of Munchausen.

THE STANDARD LIFE COMPANY'S OFFICES IN CALCUTTA.

Within the last few days Mr. F. W. Stevens has completed a set of plans. The Standard Life Assurance Company are about to erect, in Dalhousie Square, in close proximity to the Viceregal Palace, a new suite of offices, and Mr. F. W. Stevens, their consulting architect, has designed plans for the structure. We have had the pleasure of inspecting them, and it is satisfactory to state that Mr. Stevens has, although hampered to some extent by limitations of cost, created the lines of a structure that will do credit to Calcutta and the reputation of the architect. The principal facade is in Dalhousie Square, immediately facing the Dalhousie Institute, and will be one hundred and seventy-six feet in length. The style of architecture adopted is Classic Renaissance, and considering the surrounding is undoubtedly the most appropriate that could be adopted. The building will have ground, first, second, and third floors. At the north-west angle of the building, fronting Wellesley Place and Dalhousie Square there will be an imposing tower raising its height to one hundred and forty-two feet from the ground, topped by a masonry dome. The tower itself, when erected, will be a feature of the city and a landmark in the imposing approach to the Viceregal Palace. The material used in the building will be brick and terra cotta, or brick and white stone, Mr. Steven's preference being for the latter as he considers, with some justification, that the effect of terra cotta has too much of the appearance of cast iron, and wanting in the artistic freeness and beauty of stone. Mr. Stevens is desirous of introducing Porebunder stone into Calcutta, which may in time take the place of terra cotta brought out from England, and thus open up a remunerative trade for Bombay. Several devices, typical of the Company erecting the building, have been amalgamated in the design. There is a fine group of sculpture in the main gable representing the Seven Virgins with their lamps, and a colossal figure of Atlas forming an imposing terminal. The arms and monogram of the Company are also freely introduced. Over the main entrance the Royal Arms are carved. Arrangements have been made with the Government to allow the Company to build over the north portion of the premises now used as the body-guard stables with the proviso that Government are allowed to occupy the ground floor. Provision in the internal structure of the premises is, therefore, made for the stables. One serious difficulty in designing the building had to be overcome by the architect. The site is divided in the centre by Vansittart Lane, a cul-de-sac, and for some time Mr. Stevens was afraid that the building would have to be in two separate blocks. The difficulty, so far as he was concerned, could be easily overcome by bridging the lane on each floor and connecting the two sections of the building so as to preserve an unbroken line. The Municipality of Calcutta, had however, to be dealt with, and as such an arrangement did not come quite within their by-laws, they at first refused to allow the structure to be connected by the bridges. Better council, however, prevailed, and Mr. Steven's ingenious idea of constructing a compact pile of buildings, without interrupting the roadway was accepted. The Municipality were wise in allowing this as a special case as the bridges form handsome and ornamental features of the proposed new building and do not impede the ventilation of Vansittart Lane in any way. The interior of the building is, of course, designed specially for use as offices. The part of the building to the left of Vansittart Lane is to be made suitable for a bank or a large shop, whilst the first and second floors are designed for suites of offices. The Company's offices will occupy the third floor together with residential quarters. Each set of offices has a fire-proof safe, and communication with the upper stories will be by means of a grand staircase, and a hydraulic lift. At present the site is occupied by a number of tumble-down structures, which greatly detract from the appearance of the locality, and their removal will be a distinct gain. The new building is estimated to cost about Rs. 3,75,000.

MR. DADABHAI NAOROJEE AND THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The news of Mr. Dadabhai's success must have given to all sincere admirers of that worthy gentleman unfeigned pleasure ; and I am sure I am speaking the mind of the majority of the people of India that he may live long to enjoy this honour. The news of his success coming so soon on the wake of discouraging reports, was received yesterday evening with some doubt and hesitation ; and now that Reuter has confirmed the news it behoves every native of India to better himself to the needful under the circumstances. It were idle speculation to comment on the desirability or non-desirability of a native of India taking his seat in the Imperial Parliament. He is there. Under these circumstances I may point out the desirability of starting a public subscription to pay the Member for India a sum of one lakh of rupees annually for the services he will perform in the Imperial Parliament on behalf of India. It were easy matter to contribute one lakh of rupees every year from the three Presidencies ; and in this form we can show our gratitude to the worthy gentleman for his disinterested labour of the past years. Besides, it were sheer hardship on Mr. Dadabhai to let him adrift at this juncture, and in the interest of the people of India, I trust my suggestion will receive due consideration. We in Bombay are zealous to do our best in return for the public service rendered by our worthy towsman.—Yours, &c.,

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

The second match of the season will be played on the Cooperage ground, this evening, between the Rovers F. C. and the Regimental team of the King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry. The teams have not met since last season, and as there are alterations in both teams since then an interesting game should be witnessed. Yorkshire played a draw game against the Lancashire Fusiliers, a fortnight ago ; the Rovers also drew with them, no goals being scored in the Yorkshire match, the result in the Rovers' being one goal each. Unfortunately the Rovers will lack the services of two of their best men, A. R. Sharp and W. S. Wolley, who are unable to play for their team. C. W. Lauder and A. P. Gambrill fill the vacancies. The following are the teams :—

NEWS OF THE DAY.

ACCORDING to the latest returns the Conservatives have won 140 seats; the Liberals, 112; Unionists, 19; 1 Parnellite; and 10 Anti-Parnellites.

THE Chartered Mercantile Bank states that it has lost £65,000 by the failure of Messrs. Beyts Craig and Co.

THE failure is reported of Messrs. Isaac Cooke and Sons, cotton brokers of Liverpool, £25,000 being the amount of the liabilities.

IN honour of the election of Mr. Dadabhai Naorojee as a Member of Parliament, a "jusson" or thanksgiving ceremony was performed by a number of Parsee priests, in Manockjee Sett's Wady, Fort, yesterday afternoon. Almost all the Parsee schools were closed yesterday, in token of rejoicing at the same event.

FROM completed returns of the Straits Settlements Census, the total population appears to have reached 513,000 as compared with about 223,000 in 1881, an increase of two per cent. Singapore has a yet larger proportionate growth, from 139,000 to 184,000 or about 32½ per cent. The population has nearly doubled since 1871.

RECEIPTS of Indian Railways from the 1st of April to the 18th of June show a decrease of about 24½ lakhs as compared with the corresponding period of last year. The falling off is entirely confined to Guaranteed and State lines which show a total decrease of nearly 27 lakhs. The decrease is explained by the general and extraordinary depression in trade.

ALTHOUGH cholera appears to have practically disappeared from Srinagar, the latest reports from the Kashmir districts seem to show an increase in the daily number of new cases and deaths, each averaging over 200. The cholera hospital at Paghwari, a stage beyond Lower Topa on the cart road to Kashmir, has been ordered to be closed. Cholera has all but disappeared from the Delhi district. There have been only two or three isolated cases within the last fortnight, and the epidemic may, therefore, be said to be dying out. It is feared, however, that a fresh outbreak may take place if the rains hold off much longer. The total number of reported cases up to the 30th June was 2,796 and deaths 1,759.

IT has been found necessary in Burma to explain that "it is not the intention of Government to prevent a person from tapping his own toddy tree." A notification in the Finance and Commerce Department appears to have been interpreted in such a way that "fermented liquor" was held to include tari, on the ground that the process of fermentation begins, although imperceptibly, immediately after the tari has been drawn from the tree. In the absence, therefore, of any definition of the term "manufacture" in the Excise Act a person tapping his own tree technically committed an offence against the Excise law. It is now expressly stated that the term "manufacture" does not include natural fermentation of tari unaided by any artificial process.

IT will probably turn out, writes a correspondent, that the principal sufferers by the suspension of the New Oriental Bank will be Scotch depositors. It seems that the banks with their roots in the East and the far off Colonies have for years been in high favour with the frugal dwellers ayont the Tweed. The attraction for this kind of security seems to have been two-fold. Scotland has the most profound faith in the solvency and financial integrity of our Eastern Empire and the Colonies. Its thrifty classes are also fascinated by the liberal rate of interest allowed upon deposits for fixed periods.

LITTLE favour has been given to the suggestion that instruction should be given in photography in our elementary schools; but it is stated in Photographic Work that there are schools where this popular art is taught, the management finding a dark room, the more important chemicals, and also a lecturer on the subject; but at the same time making it rather a privilege for a pupil to belong to the photographic section—a privilege to be paid for by the sacrifice of what would otherwise be playtime. Our contemporary is of opinion that it is as a purely optional and almost recreative extra subject that photography may best be introduced in to ordinary schools.

ONE of the oldest ships in existence, a man-of-war which flew Nelson's flag nearly a century ago, is about to be broken up. The Foudroyant, at present lying at anchor in Plymouth Sound, which the Admiralty have just sold, was launched in the latter part of the last century. She is a square-sterned line of battleship of 80 guns. Her carved work is in keeping with her name, as she has for a figure-head a bust of Jove, while the principal ornament on the stern is a flaming thunderbolt. The Foudroyant married Lord Nelson during the operations before Naples against the French and Neapolitan rebels in 1799.

A CURIOUS story comes from Bermuda. A party of blue-jackets, it is said, were returning from Hamilton by steamboat, they having just been on general leave when a quarrel took place. One of the parties to this quarrel struck the man with whom he was contending the result being that the latter went overboard. A marine having observed what had taken place, immediately peeled to jump in, but as he was just dropping the last article of attire and preparing for his spring an officer ordered him to dress, as there were ladies in a boat close by. A life buoy was thrown overboard, and the ladies in the boat manifested every description of sympathy with the unfortunate man who was now some two or three hundred yards astern, but seemed altogether opposed to the idea of an ordinary man springing into the sea unless duly and sufficiently attired in the garments which fashion rather than common sense has decided to be proper. A sudden sweep of the boat brought the position of the unfortunate swimmer in view, and his frantic efforts to keep afloat at last created in the minds of those who were watching some idea of his imminent danger. Now the officer thought it necessary to ask if any one could swim, and hardly were the words uttered when over went five men to the rescue, including the Marine. The action taken, however, was too late, and the poor fellow sank and was drowned.

THE Czar Alexander frequently shows himself to be a man of most humane feeling. The case of M. Wychnegradski, Russian Minister of Finance, is a case in point. The Minister's health broke down with over-work, and one day just as he was about to have audience of the Emperor, the Court physician noticed that his speech was incoherent. The doctor at once conveyed a message to his Majesty regarding M. Wychnegradski's condition, and when the latter entered the Imperial chamber, the Czar arose from his chair and advanced to meet him, holding out both hands to him, and exclaiming in the most cheery and affectionate tone: "Good morning, my dear Yvan, let us postpone business till to-morrow, and instead of working stay and take breakfast with me." Reason seemed, however, to have entirely fled at that moment from the once so brilliant mind of the statesman, for without appearing to see or hear the Czar, he commenced to bow profoundly to the latter's vacant chair, murmuring unintelligible phrases. The Czar was profoundly moved by this pitiable spectacle. Bringing up a chair to the desk he gently forced the Minister into it, and then summoned the physician from the ante-chamber, when he returned with the medical man he found M. Wychnegradski fast asleep, with his head resting on the Imperial desk.

It is announced that the expedition, which has been organised for the relief of Lieutenant Peary and his party of explorers, will leave St. John's, Newfoundland, for the Greenland coast to-morrow. The steamer Kite has been victualled for 18 months, and she will carry in addition a year's provisions for Mr. Peary and his fellows. At the head of the relief expedition is Professor Heilprin, of the Academy of Natural Science. Should it be found that Mr. Peary has not returned to his winter quarters at M'Cormick's Bay towards the end of the summer, search parties will be sent inland on the ice. If, on the other hand, he should be found and he should decide to remain in Greenland another winter, the provisions intended for his use will be left at M'Cormick's Bay, and the Kite will return to Philadelphia. A good deal of anxiety exists as to the safety of Lieutenant Peary, his young wife, and five companions, who have now been absent nearly 18 months. According to latest intelligence received from Baffin's Bay the party had left their camp at M'Cormic, on sleighs, with the object of reaching the North Pole, if possible, by a land route.

No Englishman, says the Daily Graphic, can peruse the account, as given in the new issue of Lord Brassey's Naval Annual, of the naval episodes of the Chilian Civil War, without feeling proud of the part which, during the contest, was played by the British naval officers on the station. Rear-Admiral Hotham saved much useless bloodshed by arranging an armistice at Iquique; his flag-captain, the Hon. Hedworth Lambton, went in his gig under fire to conduct negotiations, and narrowly escaped being killed; and Captain A. F. St. Clair provided for the landing of mails at Valparaiso, succoured the wounded of the Blanco Encalada, prevented the seizure by the Congressionalists of much foreign property, and, in company with the American and French Admirals, hindered, at the risk of his life, Senor Vicuna from massacring a number of inoffensive inhabitants. The whole, it is reported, actually placed themselves in front of the vice-president's loaded machine guns, and dared the incensed men to fire them. Services of this kind rendered as much to humanity as to Great Britain, deserve generous recognition.

FEMININE FACTS AND FANCIES.

THE SWISS BELT SKIRT

Is one of the most useful inventions for young girls who wear the pretty, serviceable shirts or blouses that look so cool and fresh in summer time. So my illustration is specially dedicated to them. All who wear shirts know well the difficulty of keeping up the skirt when only a ribbon or leather belt is used round the waist, and how often even with a Swiss belt there comes a "lucid interval" between "body and soul," or rather, skirt. Now, with a little management, this may be well avoided, and this sketch will show you how the riddle is solved. With the Princess style of dress now so much in vogue, it is not impossible to cut it down to the shape of the upper part of the usual Swiss belt. To make this graceful kind of costume, it is best to have double-width materials, as then you need not gore it, and only take in the darts as shown in the sketch on the bodice part. The back view is made the principal one in the picture because I wished you to see that it fastens up the back very neatly with hooks and eyes. I do not mean to convey that you cannot make this kind of skirt in single-width material, but of course, if you do, you are obliged to gore it greatly. The material, if for a tall girl, should not be less than fifty inches in width, and any one of quite medium size will hardly find the ordinary double-width stuffs of forty-three inches sufficiently wide without adding a piece to the hem, which certainly might be covered by a ruche, or frill, or any other trimming. I would counsel any girl wearing this kind of skirt to fasten the blouse or shirt down round the waist with a close-fitting ribbon band first, as that will prevent any chance of its riding up when playing tennis or any out-of-door game.

STRIKING GOWNS.

The striking gown, says a lady correspondent, made Princess fashion, falling in Watteau folds back and front, is of black crepon with large white silk sleeves. The folds in front of the dress were held in place by jet braces. There was some dash and originality in most of the dresses here that was positively refreshing. The family likeness in the ordinary run of gowns gets rather irritating to us poor writers on clothes who have perpetually to be hunting up new styles. For another well-known Society lady, at a place I visited, there were two very lovely dresses. One was dark green velvet with lace accessories, the other black grenadine, striped all over the skirt with rows of pale blue ribbon covered with fine black lace. The bodice was also grenadine, but had a vest of blue silk. I was told here that the leaders of fashion are wearing the old-fashioned style of evening bodice, which is cut very low and shows the shoulders. This will be sad news to a good many women, I am afraid. At another place I saw the materials and the designs for several gowns for the Duchess of Leinster. One intended for Cowes regatta was dark blue serge with full sleeves finished with deep cuffs of blue and white striped material, and a kind of sailor collar also made of stripes. The bodice had a vest of white cloth and a pointed corselet of blue satin ribbon. One of the dresses made for Ascot was grey bengaline with ecru lace frimmings and very large sleeves. Another was of black grenadine trimmed with jet and lace.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

There is always a great influx of new and pretty things at the shops just before Ascot. The smartest boots are of bronze or glacé kid with openwork tops of silk passementerie. Pretty walking shoes are in two shades of morocco leather—red and green, or black and red—with a little steel horse-shoe or star for ornament. For evening wear the prettiest shoes are satin, with bébé ribbon rosettes made in five or six different colours.

GIRLS' FROCKS.

The girls are all looking so sweet in their light cottons and muslins that one hopes the weather will continue bright for their sakes. Fancy crepons, striped materials, organdy muslins, and flowered satins are all much worn, and it would be difficult to say which of these looks the daintiest. I saw a young lady in a very pretty dress at a shop in Oxford-street this week. It was made of pale pink cotton crepe, with a yoke of cream lace and large full sleeves divided into two large puffs, by means of a band placed just above the elbow. The sleeves had close-fitting deep cuffs trimmed with lace, and the waist was clasped by a narrow gold band. The sweet little bonnet worn with this dress was of the Marie Stuart shape, and made of cream lace and pink ribbon, with pink ribbon strings tied at the side. All the prettiest cotton dresses I have seen were made very simply, with little in the way of ribbon or frills for trimming. A dark blue cotton pattern in white, that looked very nice, had large sleeves covered with lace as far as the elbow and plain deep cuffs. The yoke was of lace and cut square back and front. All the French girls that one sees about have their dresses cut low at the throat. This is a very pretty fashion, but not one that is ever likely to be much favoured by English women. A really pretty throat is a very rare thing indeed, and seldom seen anywhere but in old miniatures.

THE HARROW JACKET.

The latest little over-jacket is called the Harrow. It differs but slightly from the Eton. Both, if not well and skilfully cut, have a way of wriggling backward on the shoulder and making the back look immensely wide. When they do this, the contrast between the width of shoulder and the narrowness of skirt is far from pleasing.

CHIFFON vs. GUIPURE.

At the marriage of the Earl of Huntingdon with Miss Maud Wilson, we noticed that the wedding guests had adopted frills of coloured chiffon about the shoulders instead of the everlasting guipure, of which one is getting heartily sick. The chiffon falls in more to the line of figure, and consequently obscures less the little bit of shoulder that the high sleeves leave visible. We saw a very pretty girl in a brownish-fawn dress with green ribbons forming revers on the front and also on the back of the bodice, being folded also so as to form flat shoulder knots or epaulets. Another girl had a cream-coloured gown, set into a yoke studded with large "jewels," which looked a trifle garish in the daylight; but I hardly like to find fault with her gown, because she had such pretty eyes and a beautiful brow.

A STRANGE DECORATION.

Conspicuous among the smartly-dressed guests at this wedding was a lady who were in the middle of her bodice, at the back, an enormous white resette with a central decoration, the whole being exactly like a grate ornament. Another good lady recalled a dressing-table, in her white gown over pink silk, with lace fixings. These mistakes are inevitable among the numerous successes.

TRYING ON.

The amount of "trying-on" that was gone through in Whit-week was simply incalculable, says a lady correspondent, speaking of the London shops. Pretty gowns were turned out by hundreds for the great occasion. We saw several in preparation, and came to the conclusion that fashion is extremely becoming this year. The deft way in which some milliners construct the bodices is simply wonderful, and makes the figure look its very best. We especially noticed this with some gowns we saw at Madame Francis's, in Buckingham Palace-road. In an evening gown of rose-pink brocade, the bodice was pulled across the waist quite tightly without any seam, under a band of silver embroidery. The large, puffed sleeves were finished off with bands of silver. A perfectly delicious evening dress was in white brocade, with sleeves and long sash of gold gauze. A bunch of coppies at one side of the bodice lent a touch of colour to the whiteness and the gold. Like an old picture was an evening gown of striped white silk and grey satin, the skirt hanging straight and sheer from the bust to the feet. Grey satin ribbons were tied in the centre, back and front, passing round under the arms, and with long ends falling at the back.

BATHING.

One of the dangers in bathing without considering our state of health is the sudden shock of the plunge re-acting on a weak heart; so where any doubt about the soundness of the heart exists, see that medical advice is taken before bathing is permitted or indulged in. To know if bathing agrees with us is a very easy matter, of course. If we leave the water with a sense of lightness and exhilaration, and feel refreshed, and, above all, in a warm glow after our "rub down," then all is well. The chilly, shivering bather, whose teeth chatter and who never gets warm after his bathe, is a person who should avoid the sea or river, and have his tepid sponge bath at home. For people, feeling thus, to persist in a kind of mad heroism in bathing is about as foolish a proceeding as can well be imagined. Yet that people will do such foolish things out of bravado we know only too well, and the end of such things is—well, illness and misery. Curiously enough, I have met with instances of people who could not bathe in the sea, but who could bathe in fresh water without feeling any ill-effects. In the former case a headache resulted, which was not experienced, after bathing in fresh water; and this is worth bearning in mind. I suppose it is due to some constitutional peculiarity or other, of which we know nothing definite.

CHILLS.

If you are inclined for a bathe when the body is warm no harm will result, provided the person is young, and strong and healthy. It is not the plunge of a warm body into the sea which is injurious, but the plunge of a chilled and rapidly cooling body that does the mischief. It is, however, better to bathe before breakfast, or in the forenoon, two hours after that meal, if people are middle-aged or inclined to be delicate. Undress and dress quickly. Chills got by standing about in wet bathing-dresses are very dangerous, and I need hardly point out that, in the case of women, this last advice is very important. Many a serious illness and lasting derangement of health is acquired by women through neglect in not avoiding chills.

A FULL SHIRT FRONT.

The fashion of wearing a full shirt front, giving the appearance and effect of a blouse, which is usually worn with the favourite open-fronted coat, is most likely to become popular; for by its use a variety of changes may be brought about at a little expense, to say nothing of its being quickly made. The full front is gathered into a fairly deep collar band, which should fasten at the back of the neck. Down the centre is pleated a frill two inches wide and the waist is sometimes finished off with an elastic passed through the hem, and fastened round the waist, in order to keep the blouse front in position. In this case, the waist webbing band of the coat bodice is hooked under the full front; the latter being allowed to droop in sailor blouse style. If a band should be preferred, instead of an elastic being used, the front may be worn under the skirt-band, and from one side of the coat-bodice should be tacked a deep folded band, and hooked on to the corresponding side. A good plan where many changes of blouse fronts are contemplated is to make the bands of the same material as the front, with hooks on the bodice, and eyes on the bands, so that they might be altered at a moment's notice. These fronts, if generally adopted, would undoubtedly save much laundry work.

CONTRASTING SLEEVES.

The revived fashion of wearing sleeves in a contrasting colour to the whole of the gown is again to the fore. Many of last season's dresses may be renovated in this way with a most satisfactory result, and the harmony of colour retained by trimming the edge of the skirt either with a ruche or frill, to match the colour of the sleeves. Gorgeous colourings being the rage just now, artistic taste in the blending is absolutely necessary. Such glaring contrasts as crimson and blue, or mauve, blue and yellow, unless of the right tints, greatly offend the eye. These combinations of colour were actually seen, and were so effectively mingled as to be not the least bit obtrusive. Mauve and pale green are also worn; and a [illegible] blue is seen to harmonise well with [illegible] while heliotrope and old gold is al[illegible]

VOCAL INFLECTIONS.

A year or two ago M. Maurel delivered at the Lyceum a lecture in which he cleverly demonstrated how various passions and feelings could be depicted by the singing voice; and since then he has been engaged upon a preliminary treatise on the vocal [illegible] which, it is expected will, before the end of the [illegible]ar, be published in the original French, and also [illegible]n English translation from the pen of Mr. E. F. [illegible]ues. Later on M. Maurel hopes, in a larger [illegible]me, to deal with the subject at full length, but [illegible]ork is, of course, not yet written, and is indeed [illegible]sketched.

GERMAN OPERA.

[illegible]supporters of the German opera are likely to [illegible] admirable artist, Frau Sucher. The reason, appa[illegible]orities, perhaps not altogether without success which[illegible]r to be a little jealous of the great country, and th[illegible] the prima donna has gained in this pear in "Die W[illegible]ey are pressing for her return to apany event, Frau Se[illegible]kure" to the German capital. JOB.

Dr. Hubert Parry's [illegible] new cantata, "Job," which will be the principal [illegible]novelty of the coming Glouces ter Festival, is a com[illegible]paratively brief work, lasting about an hour, and is[illegible] in ten numbers, divided into four sections, namely t[illegible]ken from the Bible narrative. The first scene, whic[illegible]t opens with an orchestral introduction, closes [illegible]with a chorus for male voices only; the second sce[illegible]me, besides a tenor solo to be sung by Mr. Lloyd, [illegible]contains a pastoral allegretto for orchestra, and a [illegible]couple of choruses; the third scene is devoted to th[illegible]Lamentations of Job; while the finale is wholly c[illegible]horal.

Professor Bridge [illegible]has contributed to the same festival a brief setti[illegible]as a Motet for chorus and orchestra and in th[illegible]ree movements of Dante's "Lord's Prayer," the [illegible]English version being from the pen of Dean P[illegible]umptre. Miss Ellicott, a daughter of the Bishop[illegible] has likewise composed for "The Birth of Song." THE COLLE[illegible]GE OF MUSIC.

The Prince of Wales w[illegible]ill preside at the annual meeting of the Royal Col[illegible]lege of Music at Marlborough House on the 14th [illegible]inst., when the gratifying announcement will be m[illegible]ade that the College has just received a handsome[illegible] bequest of 3,800. under the will of the late R. M[illegible]. Westrope, of Harrogate. Mr. Richard Temple, [illegible]of the Savoy, has been appointed teacher of the[illegible] operatic and dramatic classes at the College. W[illegible] may add that the final orchestral concert of the [illegible]present term will take place at St. James's Hall [illegible]on July 11, under the direction of Professor Stanf[illegible].

A NEW EXH[illegible]BITION.

A Musical and Theatrical Exhibition upon the plan of that at Vienna will, we learn, be inaugurated at Milan in 1894.—The annual meeting of the Associated Board of [illegible] and Royal College of Mu[illegible] the Royal Academy Marlborough House on July [illegible]ic will be held at ing the annual dinner of the Bo[illegible]14. MEMOS.

Senor Breton, some of whose [illegible]music has been heard at the Albeniz concerts and [illegible]elsewhere, has just successfully produced at Ba[illegible]rcelona a new Spanish opera entitled "Garin." THE COUNTY.

Miss Estelle Burney, who divided th[illegible] into opposing camps over her play "The [illegible]e critics though they were generally agreed about he[illegible] County," has been engaged to play the leading part [illegible]r acting, Stuart," the new play which will be produce[illegible]n "Mary English Opera House when Madame Sarah[illegible]n at the hardt is gone. The play is the work of Mr. [illegible] Bern Pollock, editor of the "Saturday Review," an[illegible]. H. Richard Davey. [illegible] Mr.

LADY PADDINGTON.

The new comedy "Lady Paddington," by [illegible] F. C. Phillips, which is now in rehearsal at th[illegible] Comedy, is an adaptation of an old French piece[illegible] "Le True d'Arthur," "Gloriana," which was played not long ago at the Globe, was a closer[illegible] version of the same play.

MR. C. H. BROOKFIELD.

Mr. C. H. Brookfield, the author of "The Poet and the Puppets," has a pretty wit. Taxed by the poet he has so mercilessly satirised to define an epigram, Mr. Brookfield ventured to describe it as "an Irish bull in a blue China shop."

THE FRANZ FAMILY.

The new troupe of acrobats, the Franz Family, who made their first appearance in London at the Empire the other night, did one thing that was strikingly new and original. The three ladies of the family, who were certainly not the weaker sex in this case, went through their performance in ball dresses, and what is surprising, their limbs did not seem to be cumbered in the least by their long skirts. The Empire has been done up in pretty chintz, and it was cruel for the clerk of the weather to turn round as he did on the very night the house had put on its summer aspect.

MR. LANG AT FAULT.

Mr. Andrew Lang, our chief literary critic, and an enthusiastic Scot to boot, writes thus in the "Illustrated London News":—"Neither Scott nor Burns has a memorial there (Westminster Abbey), and, speaking as a Scot, I never knew the Caledonian who 'fashed his thoomb, over this grievance.' If Mr. Lang had 'fashed his thoomb' about the matter, says the "Radical Review," he would have found that there is a bust of Burns in the "Poets' Corner."

THE LADY IN GREY.

Mr. Le Queux, the author of "Guilty Bonds," whom the Russian police agents, baited unsuccessfully some little time ago, is becoming a voluminous writer. Messrs. Ward and Lock will publish almost immediately "Strange Tales of a Nihilist," containing stories of Russian official oppression and dedicated, as a grim retort for his emissaries' rudeness, to his Imperial Majesty the Czar. Mr. Queux has also made arrangements with the "Scottish Nights" (the "Tit Bits" of Scotland) to publish a realistic story, entitled "The Lady in Grey," which deals with life in the French [illegible] settlement of New Caledonia and contains [illegible] account of an Englishman who got there b[illegible] take—a book which will please the police [illegible] publican France as much as "Guilty Bonds" [illegible] the myrmidons of the Czar.

MADAME PATTI'S HAIR.

At the Patti concert the ladies among th[illegible] ence were again interested in the much [illegible] question of the colour of the great prima [illegible] hair. A year or two since it was dyed [illegible] auburn, and Madame Patti, in at least [illegible] view, good-naturedly confided to the [illegible] reporter how and why it was done. The [illegible] ed prima donna has, however, apparent[illegible] the ladies' privilege, and has changed [illegible] at the Albert Hall she once more [illegible] black hair, and despite the fact th[illegible] secret at all about her real age, it is [illegible] ness to say that she looked as [illegible] charming as she did in the old [illegible] days, some fifteen or twenty years [illegible]

LORD JUSTICE FRY AS[illegible]

It is not generally known that [illegible]RY, Justice Fry was a theologian a[illegible] the retiring Lord lawyer. He wrote on Electio[illegible] as well as an equity a Chancery man[illegible], and also [illegible] a proper subject for theology. He will long live [illegible] on Darwinism and Bar as the author of the [illegible] the memories of the treatise on "Specific Perf[illegible] great and ponderous

MR. BIGELOW'S [illegible]rmance."

The report that Mr. [illegible]W AND THE CZAR. forbidden to pursue [illegible] Poultney Bigelow has been side of the Russian [illegible] this projected canoe voyage on been gently deposited on his all. Mr. Bigelow ha[illegible]rontier, does not surprise us at some of the hardest [illegible]as said, and that quite recently, On his canoe voyage [illegible] the Czar and his servants. Mr. Bigelow had s[illegible] down the Danube last year experiences, of which [illegible]me mildly exciting frontier columns of the "Sph[illegible] he made the most in the heard some terrible st[illegible]eaker." In Poland also he to the western world [illegible]ries which were published and of course the pictu[illegible] through the same medium, rule in Warsaw and [illegible]e which he drew of Russian and private life was [illegible] its effect upon commerce where Mr. Bigelow is [illegible]ully magnified in Berlin, an open welcome under [illegible]well known. To expect an little too much, even for [illegible] such circumstances was a being a Kaiser's friend a[illegible]one who proudly boasts of [illegible]d school-fellow.

It would seem that th[illegible] Francaise to Austria is [illegible] visit of the Commedie law suit. The company [illegible] in danger of ending in a their representations at th[illegible]ad agreed, at the close of Vienna, to play among oth[illegible] Exhibition Theatre in the Czech Theatre of that[illegible]er places, at Prague. At sequence of its staff being [illegible]city was closed, in compresario entered into an[illegible] Vienna, M. Febvre's Angelo Neumann to take [illegible] engagement with M. a number of nights. M.
